

Ensuring Safety for the Flying Public

Our Mission

The OCA's mission is to advance policies and technologies that strengthen aviation safety, accountability, and public trust.

Who We Represent

FAA-certificated Aircraft Dispatchers and Operations Management professionals who operate under Title 14 Code of Federal Regulations Part 121 Subpart U.

Our Principles

Human Authority – Operational Control must remain under the authority of qualified, certificated aviation professionals.

Safety Through Experience – Training, judgment, and operational expertise remain essential to safe aviation.

Responsible Innovation – Technology should enhance human capability while preserving meaningful oversight.

Our Advocacy

OCA works with regulators, legislators, airlines, manufacturers, technology developers, academic institutions, and international aviation organizations to promote policies that preserve human operational control and strengthen aviation safety.
